

Patricia Algier Medrano-Director of Operations & Children's Choir Administrator

As Director of Operations, with a degree in business management, and more than four decades of business ownership and management experience, Patricia Algier- Medrano (Patti), brings a strong background in organizational leadership, administration, financial oversight, and strategic planning to the organization.

A founding member and corporate officer since the choir's inception in 2011, Patti has played an integral role in helping establish, develop, and sustain the organization and its mission. In the role of Director of Operations, she helps ensure that the organization's day-to-day operations run effectively and that the resources, systems, and support needed by the choirs are in place.

Music played an important role in Patti's younger years. Her love of music was nurtured through participation in church choirs and playing various brass instruments in orchestras and bands in school and community organizations from elementary school through college.

So for Patti, serving as Director of Operations is about more than managing the business side of the organization. It is about helping create an environment where music can make a difference—in the lives of the singers, in the confidence of the children's chorus, and the hearts of everyone who hears them.
